

The Institute cyclos-HTP with its headquarters in Aachen was founded in 2014. The core competences of the institute comprise the testing and certification of the recyclability of packaging for distributors, projects for packaging optimisation and support for new developments in packaging made of plastics, paper-fibres and other materials, in particular in the field of Design for Recycling (D4R). Our customers are brand manufacturers, packaging manufacturers, discounters and dual systems.

Recycling is an important element in the sustainable use of resources. Recyclability can be determined for single packaging as well as for goods. It is an individual attribute and, as a gradual indicator, an expression and instrument of applied product responsibility.

cyclos-HTP Institute (CHI) | Recyclability Assessment Open Workshop

The workshop is constructed modularly and can be booked flexibly according to individual needs.

The number of participants is limited to 15 persons.

Day 1

Theoretical part with practical examples

Topics:

- Legal foundations, public driver
- Definition recyclability
- Recycling paths
- Institute cyclos-HTP recyclability assessment (methodology and criteria)
- Recyclability of plastic and other packaging (status and potentials, practical examples)

Day 2

Practical part on top of the theoretical basis

Topics:

- Calculation, exercises
- NIR measurements (theoretical and practical part)
- Q&A session

We make the workshop more individual depending on the questions, that we receive from the participants in advance; each participant can submit three questions beforehand. You are also welcome to bring or send up to three samples as exercise to be measured and evaluated during day 2 of the workshop.
